Frequently Asked Questions

- I do not have a bachelor’s degree in engineering, math or a hard science but have been working as an engineer and/or have been in the engineering field for many years – is there an exception to the undergraduate requirement of a BS in engineering, math or a hard science?

- Answer: One of the basic requirements for admission to the Viterbi Master of Science programs is a bachelor’s degree or its equivalent from an accredited college or university, comparable in standard to that awarded at USC. This prohibits any exception to the Limited Status enrollment requirements.
Frequently Asked Questions

- I have a BS in engineering, math or a hard science but do not have a GPA of 3.0 or higher from my undergraduate institution. I did receive higher than a 3.0 from a previous Master’s degree in engineering. Do I qualify for Limited Status?

Answer: The faculty of the Viterbi School of Engineering have determined that an undergraduate GPA of 3.0 is the minimum standard to allow enrollment as Limited Status. DEN cannot allow an exception to this standard.

Students with a GPA of less than 3.0 are encouraged to apply for admission and submit credentials including letters of recommendation, a statement of purpose, transcripts and GRE scores. This information provides a more complete picture for admissions officers and faculty to evaluate and best determine the applicant’s qualification for success in a USC Master of Science program.
Frequently Asked Questions

- I attended more than one school as an undergraduate student. Should I submit the cumulative GPA from all institutions attended (community colleges, transfer institution, etc.) or just the GPA from the school where I received my BS on my DEN Profile?

Answer: Please indicate your cumulative GPA from the undergraduate institution that you received your undergraduate BS degree.

- Can I take courses towards a graduate certificate program as a Limited Student?

Answer: Yes, but absolutely no more than 12 units as Limited status. You must be admitted before completing the courses required for a Graduate Certificate.
